

Parish Vocations Awareness Committee Guidelines

*Fostering a
'Vocations Culture'
across Australia*

Foreword from Bishop David Walker

*“In the first place, you must never think that you are alone in deciding your future!
And second: When deciding your future, you must not decide for yourself alone!”*

Pope John Paul II

Over 40 years ago the Second Vatican Council challenged us to strive to make our parish communities “vocations conscious”. To meet this challenge all of us have a responsibility for creating an environment which recognises the primary vocation of each and every Christian: to life and love; holiness and discipleship; witness and service. Such an environment would take for granted that young people will be endowed with the skills, knowledge and support that will enable them to make an informed, discerned, conscious choice about their life’s vocation.

A special work in our communities is to pray and work together to encourage and nurture a vocations culture, with special attention being given to fostering vocations to the priesthood, diaconate and the religious life.

A collaborative effort by Catholic Vocations Ministry Australia (CVMA), NSW Vocations Network and Serra Council of Australia, New Zealand and the South Pacific (SCANZSPAC) has produced this document titled “Parish Vocations Awareness Committee Guidelines”.

I commend the document to you as a user-friendly and a valuable resource for the task of fostering a vocations culture in our parish communities, through which every member of every parish, from the youngest to the most senior, will come to discover and celebrate God’s call ~ their vocation ~ to discipleship and fullness of life.

I wish to thank those who have been involved in its production and future distribution and I would encourage all members of the Church to embrace the concept and encourage their parish families to accept the challenge made so many years ago to make our communities more “vocations conscious”.

1. Parish Vocations Awareness Committee: Introduction and Overview

In the decree of the Second Vatican Council, parish communities should strive to make a parish family “vocation conscious.” Our parishes need to remind us that God calls each of us to fullness of life. We need to respond to that call by choosing a vocation that expresses our love of God in the world. Such a committee can raise awareness about, and share information about the various Catholic vocations: to the priesthood, the diaconate and to the religious, married, and single life.

As a parish-based organisation, a Parish Vocations Committee needs to work closely with the Parish Priest, Parish Council, school staffs, youth groups and other groups that make up the parish community. As a committee of the parish, a Parish Vocations Committee needs to establish definite goals, objectives, and activities.

1.1 Why Form a Parish Awareness Committee?

The parish community needs to pray and work together to encourage and foster a vocations culture. Special attention can then be given to the fostering of religious and priestly vocations.

1.2 Who Forms a Parish Vocations Awareness Committee?

The initiative to establish a committee is likely to come from the Parish Priest, a religious community, a Serran or others in the parish who are interested in fostering a vocations culture.

1.3 Initial Planning

For those seeking to establish a Parish Vocations Awareness Committee, it would be necessary to first meet with the Parish Priest to explain the concept and to seek his support and ongoing commitment to this ministry. To achieve strong parish support the Parish Council and other relevant parish groups would need to be informed.

A Steering Committee would then be formed to establish:

- The purpose and focus of the Committee
- Key people involved
- Selection of members

2. Suggested Steps for Starting a Parish Vocations Awareness Committee:

2.1 Getting Organised

After consultation with the Parish Priest and Parish Council, you will need to appoint a chairperson and decide how often you will meet. Create your own Vision Statement and Guidelines. (The Sample Guidelines in Appendix.1 may be of assistance... Adapt the wording to your local situation if necessary.)

2.2 Planning Activities

The purpose of a Parish Vocations Awareness Committee is to promote a vocations culture through:

- Prayer
- Education of the Committee and parishioners
- Identifying potential candidates
- Personally inviting young people to consider the options of religious life and priesthood and/or the permanent diaconate.

2.3 Liaising with Parish Priest and Parish Council

Always inform the Parish Priest of your plans and vision. Invite his input and participation. It is also important to meet regularly with the Parish Council to inform them of your activities. Give them copies of your vision statement, and reports of your on-going activities, so they have a handy summary of your work and role.

2.4 Communicating with the Parish

Be sure to let the parish know you exist by:

Putting an announcement in the parish and school bulletins (see sample announcement in Section 3.4).

Giving a short presentation at the end of all Masses on a particular Sunday, explaining to the people what you hope to accomplish (see sample script in Section 3.5)

2.5 Teaming Up With Others

It would be helpful to collaborate with groups in the parish, including youth ministry, young adult ministry, religious education, parish school, ministers to the sick, parish prayer groups, liturgy committee, Knights of the Southern Cross, parish ethnic communities, small faith communities, people who attend morning Mass, etc. You may wish to attend their meetings and ask for their suggestions and help. Always give them something to pass on to others: e.g. the CVMA “Where Will YOU Land?” brochure.

2.6 Becoming Informed

Become familiar with vocations resources available:

books and printed materials produced by Catholic Vocations Ministry Australia (CVMA)*your Diocese, Catholic Educations Office, Catholic Bookshops websites e.g. OzVocations: www.catholicozvocations.org.au *CVMA produces a quarterly vocations journal called “VocNET”. (See website for subscription details)

2.7 Networking

Stay in contact with other parish vocation committees in your deanery/diocese. They can be a source of support and new ideas. Consider organising regular meetings at a deanery/diocesan level.

2.8 Finding New Members

Be on the lookout for new members for your committee. Your committee can include as many as 10 members or as few as 2 or 3.

Appendix 1

Sample Guidelines for Parish Vocations Awareness Committee

Name

The name of this group will be the Vocations Awareness Committee of (parish name) Catholic Community.

Purpose

The purpose of the Parish Vocations Awareness Committee is to inspire and assist the community of (parish name) in fulfilling its mission of fostering a vocations culture, and, in particular, encouraging young people to consider a vocation to the ordained ministry and/or religious life.

The committee will do this mainly in four ways:

1. Promotion of a Vocations Culture

Committee members will foster a vocations culture in the parish through a variety of ways such as:

- displaying posters and other materials that highlight all Christian Vocations: marriage, single life, religious life, priesthood and diaconate
- regularly promoting religious and priestly vocations by various means
- highlighting and celebrating the annual National Vocations Awareness Week (NVAW) (Refer Appendix 7)
- regularly featuring vocations in the Sunday Prayers of the Faithful
- honouring the annual World Day of Prayer for Vocations (4th Sunday of Easter).
- establishing a Serran '31 Club' (Refer Appendix 9)
- establishing the Parish 'Vocations Cross' Programme (Refer Appendix 10)
- Information and resources for the annual National Vocations Awareness Week (the first full week in August) are available on the website: www.catholicozvocations.org.au

2. Formation/Education of the Committee and Parishioners

It is essential that members of the Committee have an understanding of the Vatican II Theology of Vocations. This can be achieved through:

- Reading and discussing relevant material, including the Vatican II Document 'Lumen Gentium' (# 32 & 40,) the CVMA Journal VocNET, the CVMA Website: www.catholicozvocations.org.au
- Attending workshops/conferences
- Familiarisation with Vocational Discernment Processes
- Understanding the various forms of both personal and communal prayer

3. Prayer

The Committee will organise ongoing prayer for vocations in the parish. This may include:

- Prayers of the Faithful
- 'Vocations' prayer cards for specific use by the elderly, sick and housebound
- Prayer groups and morning Mass goers be asked to make vocations a special intention
- Families be invited to pray that children will make informed choices about their vocation in life
- Parishioners be encouraged to pray specifically for the young of the parish: that they respond generously to God's call for them
- Inviting young adults to gather for communal prayer experiences
- Holy hours and perpetual adoration of the Blessed Sacrament
- Parishioners be invited to participate in Serran Prayer programmes*

Contact your local or regional Serra Club for information.*

4. Inviting Individuals to consider a Religious or Priestly Vocation

Committee members, will spend time in prayer and reflection before, during and after consultation with parish staff, the local religious community/ies and other parish personnel, so that they might identify potential candidates for priesthood, permanent diaconate and religious life.

They will then personally invite them to consider that vocation.

 The resources contained in Appendix 7 of these guidelines could be helpful.*

Relationship to Other Groups

Our Parish Vocations Awareness Committee is responsible to and reports regularly to the Parish Council. The committee will also work closely with other groups in the parish: e.g. youth ministry, young adult ministry, religious education, parish school, ministers to the sick, parish prayer groups, liturgy committee, small faith communities, people who attend morning Mass, The committee will also try to meet regularly with other vocation committees in the deanery/region/diocese.

Membership

Our Parish Vocations Awareness Committee is composed of not more than 10 members approved by the Parish Council. Ideally, we will have representation from each of our vocational groupings: priest, deacon, married couple, single person, sister and/or brother on the committee. It is recommended that members serve not more than five consecutive years unless there is a good reason to do otherwise. The members select the Co-ordinator and office bearers.

Annual Review

It is recommended that we review the operation of this Committee annually in the light of these guidelines, and plan accordingly for coming year.

Sample Presentation by a Committee Member

These, or similar words, could be used by a committee member in a presentation at the end of Sunday Masses announcing the formation of the Vocations Awareness Committee in the parish.

Good evening/morning!

My name is_____. I am a member of the newly formed Vocations Awareness Committee in our parish. More parishes are becoming aware of the responsibility of promoting a healthy vocations culture. Our parish is one that is responding to this challenge.

As you may have already read in the bulletin, the task of the committee is fourfold:

- To promote a Culture of Vocations
- To form and educate the Committee and Parishioners
- To foster a prayerful environment in which all vocations are discerned
- To establish a parish process for inviting individuals to consider a vocation to the religious life or ordained ministry as a priest or deacon.

I would ask you for your prayers for the success of this committee. Vocations ministry is the responsibility of all of us – every baptised person – and thus we hope that we will find ways through which many parishioners will be involved in this vital ministry. To start us off: prayer cards are available at the entrance to the Church. Please make sure you take one. If you have any questions about our committee, I will be available outside the church following this Mass.

Thank you.

Appendix 6

Underlying Principles in Vocations Awareness

- Each of us is called by God. This call is rooted in Baptism, and is a way of participating in the mission of Jesus. The promotion of vocational awareness is the responsibility of every baptised person.
- There is a rich variety of calls given by God.
- Most people are called to marriage. Some people are called to be single, and others are called to be sisters, brothers, priests or deacons. All vocations are equal and make up the Body of Christ.
- The seeds of many religious vocations are sown in childhood, even though the person does not make a vocational decision until adulthood.
- Sisters, priests, deacons and brothers are ordinary people who don't claim to be perfect, but desire to be of service in how they live and work.
- To be a brother, sister, deacon or priest can be an exciting life.
- Priesthood, permanent diaconate and religious life are for healthy, happy and energetic women and men.
- A celibate choice is a valid and healthy way of loving that demands an integrated sense of self and one's sexuality.
- Personal invitation continues to be the main reason someone chooses to consider religious life, the diaconate and priesthood as possible options.
- There is need for education regarding the language used in relation to: vocations, ministry, religious life, priesthood, diaconate, e.g. charism, vows, formation, novitiate.
- Religious life, priesthood, diaconate continue to evolve in ways rarely presented by the stereotypical images in the media.

I know you love me and are calling me to Choose Life!
But sometimes, I am overwhelmed by the thought of my future. It's scary!
Help me to listen to your call ~ in all the ways you speak to me:
through prayer and the scriptures,
through the Church and the circumstances of my life, through those who love and care for me,
and through my own hopes and desires.
Guide me to search openly and learn about life's choices, so that I may respond generously to your call,
and choose the vocation that will enable me to love wholeheartedly, and serve others with the special gifts you have given me.
God, Today I thank you for your love ~ and for all your gift of life holds for me. Amen.
2. Dear Jesus,
Please grant to me the grace to know my true vocation.
In Baptism I was signed in your name and have grown to share in the work of bringing the Father's love to our world. May I respond to the special life's work to which you are calling me.
I ask that many will hear the particular call to serve in the Church as priests, religious and consecrated lay people.
To whatever you ask of me, may I freely, courageously and lovingly respond. Amen.

A Vocation Discernment Prayer

*God, I know you love me and have great plans for me.
But sometimes I am overwhelmed by the thought of my future.
I sense that you may be calling me to be a sister, brother, priest or deacon.
Show me how to walk forward one day at a time.
May I have the courage to search openly,
to learn about my choices,
to listen to others for advice,
and pay attention to my own feelings,
but most importantly, to listen to you.
By doing this, I trustingly respond to your call,
believing that you will lead me to fullness of life.
My deepest desire is to serve you,
so I trust that you will give me
whatever I need to follow wherever you may lead. Amen.*

Sick Person's Prayer for Priestly and Religious Vocations

O God, You are a good and loving Father.
I have great confidence that you are listening to me.
Our world needs many priests and consecrated men and women to serve your church.
I offer my sufferings, my illness, the infirmities of old age, and my personal inconveniences for your greater honour and glory.
Encourage our generous young people to listen to, and discern your call.
Show them how they can best serve their brothers and sisters in Christ.
O God, may my sickness be my prayer when I have no words.
I ask this through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Senior Citizen's Prayer for Religious and Priestly Vocations

*Loving God,
You call me to be a person of faith,
who desires to grow in wisdom as well as age.
Teach me to be open to you by responding to your love in my life.
As I grow older, sometimes I am sick or without energy, or feel very lonely.
Let me remember that you too know what it is to suffer and yet remain hopeful.
I desire to offer the difficulties of my life for those whom you call to serve as priests, deacons, sisters or brothers.
I ask that you bless our parish community with generous and enthusiastic young people who are willing to respond to this call.
I make my prayer in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.*

Serra Vocations Prayer

God our Father, Lord of the Harvest, through the intercession of the Blessed Mary ever Virgin, St Joseph, Blessed Mary MacKillop, Blessed Junipero Serra and all the saints, we pray for an increase in vocations to the priesthood, diaconate and religious life.

May your disciples respond generously when You call them into the ordained ministry and consecrated life in the Church.

Thank you, Lord, for those who serve us now as dedicated bishops, priests, deacons and religious. May they be found faithful in fulfilling the ministry for which they have been chosen.

We ask this through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.

Appendix 9

Parish 31 Club Programme

If you ask others to pray for vocations, you need to begin by praying yourself.

Make vocations to the ordained ministry and religious life part of your private prayer every day. You may wish to use one of the vocation prayers in Appendix 7.

The 31 Club is one of Serra's simplest, most successful and most fundamental vocation programmes. It is an excellent way to make Catholics aware of the need for an increase in priestly and religious vocations at the parish level, where vocations most often begin.

How does it work?

Parishioners are invited to choose one date during the month when they will go to Mass for religious and priestly vocations. At Mass on the designated date, the person prays for all priests, deacons, sisters, brothers and lay ministers who have served, or are serving the parish, and prays that young parishioners will respond to God's call to religious and priestly life. Those making this commitment to monthly Mass also receive a prayer card and are requested to pray each day for priestly and religious vocations.

Appendix 10

Parish Vocation Cross Programme

Vocations to the religious life and ordained ministry don't grow on trees. They are nurtured in families! For that reason, prayer for vocations should include prayer in the family. One practical way to get families to pray for these vocations is to start a Vocation Cross Programme in the parish.

A cross (provided by Serra, or the parish or diocese) is circulated throughout the parish, with each family hosting the cross for one week. During that week the family prays every day - usually before the evening meal – for vocations to the ordained ministry and religious life. Copies of a special vocations prayer are provided by the Parish Vocations Awareness Committee (PVAC) for use by the family. The cross is put in some prominent place in the house so that family members are reminded of its presence throughout the week.

It is best to present the cross to the hosting family during a Sunday Mass. As well as creating a formal setting for handing over the cross, this reminds the entire congregation to pray for religious and priestly vocations.

To ensure this programme runs smoothly the PVAC will need to take responsibility for keeping a calendar. Sponsoring families should sign up well ahead of time and will need to know what Mass to attend to receive the cross. The celebrant should present the cross to the family using some appropriate wording such as:

"I present this cross to you, the (n)_____ family, and commission you to pray each day this week for more vocations to the religious life, priesthood and diaconate, especially from our parish. We, the community, will also join our prayers to yours.

Rosary

Ask those who pray the Rosary before or after daily Mass to pray one of the vocations prayers each day.

Parish Prayer Groups

Ask the leaders of your parish prayer groups to make vocations a special intention in their prayers and pray one of the vocations prayers regularly.

Ministry to and by the Sick and Housebound

Ask those who are sick or housebound to pray for vocations to religious life and ordained ministry, and offer up their sickness for this intention. By doing this the sick can become a powerhouse of prayer. (See Appendix 8 for a suggested prayer.) Encourage the priest/s and all who minister to the sick and housebound to leave a copy of this prayer with those whom they visit. They could also leave a copy of the 'Ministry of the Sick and Housebound' commitment card. * These need to be printed out on cards.

Vocations Ministry of the Sick and Housebound

I will commit myself to:

1. Offer a monthly holy hour at home (by myself or with others)
2. Spend time each week praying for vocations to the religious life, priesthood and diaconate ~ e.g. the rosary, scripture reflection
3. Pray daily for a young woman or man (by name) who is considering religious life or ordained ministry (priesthood/diaconate)
4. Do some act of kindness for someone else
5. Accept willingly whatever daily life brings in terms of pain and loneliness.

Dear _____

I am writing to invite your assistance in promoting vocations to the ordained ministry and religious life.

The sick and housebound of our parish can provide a tremendous resource of prayer, and I hope you can help us to ask for their prayer and ministry for this important purpose.

I enclose our new prayer cards, “Sick Person’s Prayer for Vocations” and a “Senior Citizen’s Prayer for Vocations”, as well as the ‘Ministry of the Sick and Housebound’ commitment card. Would you kindly distribute these cards to the sick, housebound, and elderly, so that they might offer their illness or infirmities to the Lord for an increase of vocations to the ordained ministry and religious life. We see these people as our Powerhouse of Prayer for vocations. Their prayers are united with those of many other people throughout our diocese and Australia.

Please let me know how many cards you would like. They are available without cost.

Thanks for your cooperation!

Sincerely yours in Christ,

On behalf of the Parish Vocations Awareness Committee

Inviting Individuals to Consider a Vocation to Religious Life or Ordained Ministry (Priesthood or Diaconate)

People Need An Invitation

A major task of the Parish Vocations Awareness Committee is to identify individuals in the parish who might make good priests or religious, and personally invite them to consider this special call. This is a crucial part of vocations ministry. Recent anecdotal evidence (shared by Australian vocations ministers) indicates that most people in seminaries and houses of religious formation are there because, somewhere in their journey of discernment, they were personally encouraged or invited to consider a religious or priestly vocation. This pattern is not new! It reflects the stories of so many priests and religious!

Whom should we invite?

Following are five easy steps on how to identify potential candidates for personal invitation.

1. Pray about it

Prayer must always be primary. Before meeting to identify those people whom they believe would make a good priest or religious, spend some time in prayer as a group, asking for God's help and guidance in the important mission you are about to take on.

2. Consult

Meet with the parish priest and parish staff (especially the youth minister and school staff), and ask them to identify those people they believe would make good priests and religious.

You can enlist the help of the Sunday congregation in searching out candidates. You may put an announcement in the Sunday bulletin (see sample below) asking people to identify those they consider would be suitable candidates, and why. Ask the congregation to pray for your committee in this important search. Include the intention in the Prayers of the Faithful that week. Ask the Parish Priest to endorse this project.

3. Search

In addition to the names already gathered, take a close look at the people involved in the specific groups, making sure to include all ethnic communities in your parish, e.g.

- Liturgical Ministers: altar servers, lectors, ministers of Eucharist, musicians ...
- Primary and secondary teachers and catechists
- Youth leaders
- Other parish committee/organisation members

There are many young, single Catholics around who are prayerful, generous and involved in the parish and wider community. These are the kind of people who would make good priests, deacons and religious.

Search for Candidates

Research has shown that most people who decide to choose a vocation to the religious life or ordained ministry do so because somebody along the way said to them: “You would make a good priest/brother/sister/deacon.”

This month the Parish Vocations Awareness Committee is conducting a search for potential candidates for the ordained ministry and religious life. The people identified will be contacted and personally invited to consider a religious or priestly vocation. During this search process the committee members will consult with the organisations of the parish asking for suggestions. If you know of single parishioners whom you think would make goodbrothers/priests/deacons /sisters, please contact the committee* with their name and phone number. And please help by including them in your prayers. (*Add contact details)

The following list of qualities is offered to help you identify potential candidates to the religious life or ordained ministry (i.e. priesthood or permanent diaconate) :

- SERVICE – Does the young person show signs of altruism?
- COMPASSION – Does the person feel empathy for the suffering of others?
- COMMITMENT – Is this a person who follows through on commitments?
- SOCIABILITY – Do these young people interact well with peers? Do others enjoy being around them?
- LEADERSHIP – Can they lead by persuasion and example rather than position?
- INQUIETUDE – Is this an inquisitive person, someone who consistently asks the larger questions?
- TRUST – Do others consider this to be an honest person, someone worthy of trust?
- ATTRACTION – Does this person seem to be attracted to positive ministerial role models? Would he or she be an attractive model for others?
- GOALS – Is this a young person who has his or her own goals? One who meets these goals?
- LEARNING – Does this person have the ability to learn, academically and personally?
- MEANING – Does this young person act out of a value system and believe life is purposeful?

These are the people in whom the Spirit is active, and vocation discernment should be seen as a process in which others assist them to complete the good work that God has already begun.

(Terrance W. Klein: “Discerning Vocations to Ordained Ministry and Religious Life” – America Journal)

4. Discern

- Meet as a committee to consider the names that have been submitted.
- Spend some time in prayer
- In an atmosphere of strict confidentiality invite comments about each suggested candidate.
It may be helpful to have the parish priest and parish religious attend this meeting.

5. Personally invite

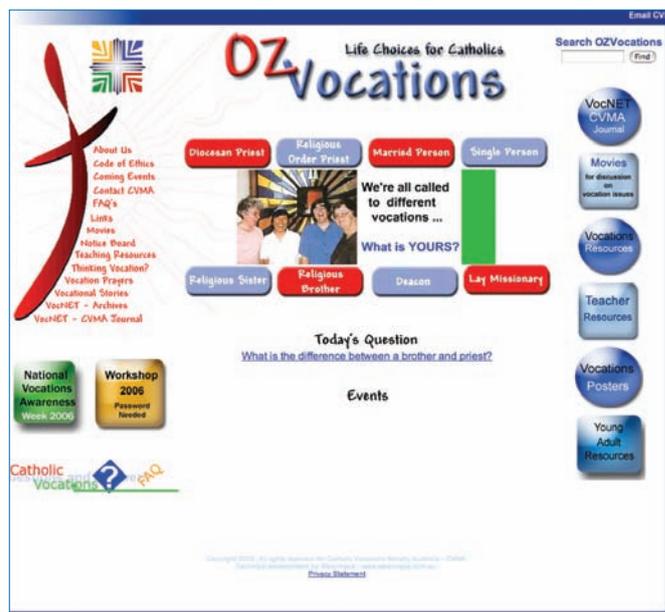

It is now time to personally invite candidates whose names you have identified. Nominate which committee member will approach which candidate. Say something like this:

“I am contacting you on behalf of our Vocations Awareness Committee. Our committee feels you have the qualities needed to be a sister/brother/deacon/priest. We would like you to prayerfully consider this matter. If you wish, we could help you to explore the possibility that God is calling you in this way. Please take time to seriously consider this invitation, and, if you would like to follow this up, here are my contact details.”

(A suggestion: you might also offer the invitation in writing)

If you feel self-conscious about doing this, remember that you are really complimenting the person. Even if the person is not interested in a religious/priestly vocation, he/she will feel affirmed by your conversation.

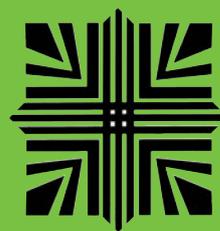

If people in your parish respond positively to this invitation, they may wish to speak with your parish priest /religious/deacon OR they may prefer someone outside the parish. All dioceses, and most religious congregations have designated vocations ministers whose contact details are listed on the CVMA website: www.catholicozvocations.org.au.
